Missionary Lecture at Knox Church.

Miss Alma Tallman, a missionary with headquarters in Western Inland China spoke in Knox United Church on Monday. A well filled Church greeted the speaker.

Miss Tallman is a graduate nurse and a keen student of present day affairs, especially as they pertain to missionary work in China. She described the trip to the inland, spoke of learning the language and dealt with the problems of China, particularly as they have to do Chinese women.

One has only to listen to Miss Tallman to be an ardent supporter of foreign missions. One was struck by the sympathetic way in which the whole thing was dealt with. Every effort is made to understand the people of China, to get their point of view and to adapt the gospel message to the Chinese. Tremendous progress has been made in the last twenty five years. The taking to China of modern medical science has been in itself a great stride forward.

Didsbury Rebekahs Give Novelty Dance.

The Didsbury Rebekahs gave a very enjoyable novelty dance on Tuesday evening at which there was a good attendance.

The Rebekahs added to their reputation as providers of a good time. Both new and old time dancing was indulged in and supper was served at midnight.

After supper the novelties were thrown out and the fun and frolic was kept up to a late hour. In the old time waltz competition Mr. and Mrs. Jake Huget were declared the winners and Miss Margaret Ranton and Mr. W. McFarquhar were the recipients of the lucky number prizes.

A Warning to Minors.

A young man was brought before the local J.P., Mr. J. W. Phillipson, last Monday, charged with obtaining liquor whilst a minor. The information was laid by the proprietor of the local hotel. He pleaded guilty and was given the minimum fine of $20.00 and costs. It is commendable that proprietors of the hotel are trying to operate the parlor lawfully and it is a warning to minor not to try and obtain liquor unlawfully.

Alberta Premier Goes To Ottawa.

The premier of Alberta will go to Ottawa the end of this week to discuss with the Dominion the question of returning to the province its natural resources.

There is every reason to expect an agreement because, but for a hitch one was reached some years ago as it is believed that no real obstacle exists at present.

The Dominion government offers to return to the province its public domain in lands, minerals, and water powers and to continue in to continue in perpetuity the subsidy now paid in lieu of them, such subsidy to be increased to the statutory maximum, proportionate to population.

This Better Age

The work of a clever cartoonist has for some time past been syndicated to newspapers in America, under the general title "So This Is Progress," wherein he depicts by way of contrast conditions of fifty or more years ago with those of today, as, for example, a party of present-day tourists in a high powered motor car speeding at sixty miles an hour along a highway on which at every vantage point unsightly billboards invite you to chew this gum, smoke that cigar, or use such and such a soap. In contrast he presents the restfulness and beauty of a tramp through the woods, and by brooks, and rivers rambling through the countryside. The work of this cartoonist leads one to wonder sometimes whether the vaunted progress of this age of frenzied speed, amazing machinery, industrialized mass production, insane speculation is, after all, an advance upon the more leisurely life and enjoyments of the last century.

Such a picture is, however, one-sided, inasmuch as while it points out drawbacks of today, it fails to visualize the great achievements and gains to humanity as a whole, and already there is an awakening public opinion to the need for the preservation of beauty and leisure, and emphasis is laid on the fact that these need not necessarily be lost in order to make advancement in other directions.

Recently another artist presented two companion pictures in a single drawing which he labelled "This IS Progress." One picture was a reproduction of the famous painting "The Doctor," presenting the family physician by the bedside of a dying child in a workman's humble cottage, intently watching the child but apparently powerless to stay the ravages of the disease which was slowly taking the life of the child before the eyes of the agonized parents. The companion picture revealed the medical scientist of today at work in his laboratory with his scientific instruments locating and studying those deadly germs and bacilli which, it is now recognized, are the cause of disease. Thus is war being waged not on disease after it claims its victim, but on the causes of disease. This is progress, and a truer, because a more lasting picture of the achievements of the twentieth century.

Despite all the noise, the killing pace, even the ugliness of this mechanized age, with its drawbacks in the merging of the individual artisan into the cogs of a huge industrial machine, and the increasing worship of the almighty dollar, the standard of living is rising higher and higher, and beauty lost in one way is found and multiplied in countless other ways. The average workman in our cities and manufacturing towns is now better paid, better dressed, better housed, better fed, and, working shorter hours under more sanitary conditions, has more time for leisure and recreation than in any previous period in the world's history. His children are enjoying advantages in education and opportunities in life he never had in his youth.

The riches of the world's best literature, formerly reserved for the favored few, are available at low cost through the modern printing press for every home. The beauties of the world's finest music are no longer reserved for the rich and the gifted, but are broadcast by radio to be captured in millions of homes, no matter how isolated they may be. In the last century the man with a horse and buggy for pleasure or business belonged to the select; today the man without a motor car is the exception, not the rule. The telephone is an instant call in the humblest home, even the pioneer settler's sod shack, and the radio is in the mining prospector's cabin.

Even the toil and drudgery of the farm are disappearing with the advent of power machinery and electricity. Soon, even in this last Great West, high power transmission lines will carry electricity into the farm home to bake and cook, chop feed, operate the churn, pump water, and perform numerous other tasks. Even in advance of this, small gasoline engines now do the work on many farms. The telephone, the radio, the motor car and better roads, have already well-nigh annihilated the loneliness of farm life, while educational facilities and medical services are no longer remote.

So, notwithstanding certain drawbacks and losses, the world advances, progress is real and altogether worthwhile, life becomes richer and fuller, mankind rises higher and higher as God and nature designed that he should.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Englishman Invents New Dance Floor

Savoy Hotel, London, England, Has Only One Of Its Kind In World

A dance floor that rises up to the level of the tops of the tables—at the touch of a button—was "opened" during the dinner and supper entertainments at the Savoy Hotel, London, England. It is said to be the only floor of its kind in the world. Measuring 44 feet by 25 feet, it rises without a creak in 30 seconds by means of hydraulic power. Thousands of gallons of water from the four artesian wells below the Savoy are used.

An official of the hotel said: "The inventor is an Englishman, W. J. Huggett, and he and our chief engineer, F. C. Pay, have been working on it for six months. It has cost over $50,000, and has been constructed between 2 a.m. and 10 a.m. so as not to interfere with our guests' comfort. This enables all guests to see the cabaret without standing.

HOUSEHOLD CARES

Fall Heavily On the Woman Who Is Run Down—Thin Blood
the Trouble

To the woman who has her household work to do and her family to attend to, illness is almost a calamity. Many a woman keeps on with her household duties when she is feeling ready to drop. Her head aches, she may be breathless at the least exertion she has little relish for food, and always feels tired and nervous. The trouble is poor blood—thin, watery blood, and she badly needs the health help that only Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can give her. The rich, red blood which comes through the use of these pills promptly restores anaemic sufferers to good health. Among the thousands who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. John W. Macdonald, Cardigan, P.E.I., who says: "I can most strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was so run down in health that I was unable to do my household work alone. My husband thought I would never get better, as I had tried different kinds of medicine, with no benefit whatever. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I did, and to my joy I found they were just the thing I needed. I took six boxes of the pills and found myself restored to my old-time good health."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now; or you can get the pills by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Will Preserve Old Fort

Changes At Churchill May Necessitate Guard On Fort Prince Of Wales

That it might prove necessary to place a guard over the ruins of the two-century-old Fort Prince of Wales at Churchill, was the statement made by Hon. Charles Dunning, Canadian Minister of Railways, on his return from a trip of inspection over the lines of the recently constructed Hudson Bay Railway to Canada's Arctic port.

Two hundred years ago, occupants of this center of the Hudson's Bay Company's activities carved their names on the rock walls. Now with the steady increase of visitors to Fort Churchill, the walls at the old Fort are being marked up by new names despite the desire of the Department of the Interior to preserve the ruin as the pioneers of the north left them. "I imagine the department will put guards over the fort," Mr. Dunning said. "It is perhaps the most interesting relic left to us of early Canadian history, a history that pre-dated that of any city on the prairies or the middle United States. Churchill was Churchill and the capital of the western half of the continent from the Arctic Sea to Oregon before there was any Selkirk, or Fort Garry, or Regina. The Fort stands as a monument to the men who built it as a link with the 18th century in this country and must be preserved."

Ambassador Bridge Now In Operation

Longest Suspension Bridge In World
Between Canada and United States

A great new link between Canada and the United States, the Ambassador Bridge, has come into operation.

The ever-growing traffic between the two countries brings into being the longest suspension bridge in the world—the Ambassador is 1,850 feet long between the main towers. The centre span looms 152 feet above the waters of the Detroit River and at the piers is 135 feet above the water. The total length of the bridge from the terminal in Sandwich, Ontario to the terminal in Detroit is nearly two miles.

The roadway of the bridge is 47 feet wide, providing five lanes of traffic, flanked by an eight-foot sidewalk. These lanes for traffic will be used in either direction as circumstances demand. Main towers of the bridge are 365 feet in height and of steel construction.

The magnitude of the structure is indicated by the quantities of different kinds of material used. Structural steel and cable wire weight approximately 24,000 tons; concrete masonry measures 25,000 cubic feet; the roadway pavement is 60,000 square yards, sidewalk 8,000 square yards. Two million rivets were driven during the progress of construction of the steel portions of the bridge.

Proposals for some direct connection across the Detroit River have been made for nearly fifty years. Work was started on the Canadian end in June, 1927, and the American end a month previous.

International Conference To Simplify The Calendar Is Expected To Be Held Next Year

Action taken by the Assembly of the League of Nations at its recent session holds much promise that an international conference to simplify the calendar will be held next year, said George Eastman, chairman of the National Committee on Calendar Simplification, in a statement commenting upon advices he has just received from Geneva.

Mr. Eastman said that a resolution had been adopted by the Assembly which automatically placed on the agenda of the next meeting of the League Conference on Communications and Transit, probably in December, the findings of his committee, the calendar reform resolutions of the International Chamber of Commerce, the recommendations of the French and Belgian calendar committees, and resolutions adopted by various national and international bodies, all directed to the League.

The Communications and Transit Conference, Mr. Eastman said, will in effect act for the League in the matter of calling an international calendar conference and it was his belief that the accumulation of favorable recommendations from different countries, and those of the International Chamber of Commerce could not but impress the conference that the time for international action on calendar reform is ripe.

Before this meeting is held, reports may be received also, he said, from national calendar committees in Germany, Holland, Hungary and Peru, Cuba and several other of the Latin-American countries. The Conference will also have been informed of the results of the calendar referendum of the United States Chamber of Commerce, now in progress among local chambers, which calls for opinion on calendar simplification and whether there should be an international conference in which the United States should participate. Mr. Eastman felt that judging by the number of favorable expressions already given by Chambers of Commerce to his committee during its own inquiry the referendum would show approval of calendar simplification.

Camouflaged Sardines

Fish Must Be Correctly Labelled If Sold In Great Britain

The description "sardine" may be applied in Canada to certain fish caught there and it is even permissible when they are shipped to most parts of the British Empire. But if the product is sent to Britain and South Africa, the term is not allowed. This unusual information was elicited when a questioner in the British House of Commons asked the reason for this discrimination against Canadian produce.

Hon. W. R. Smith, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, replied the courts in Britain had decided the name "sardine" could not legally be applied to fish not really sardines. The produce may be sold, but "sardine" must be omitted from the wrapper. Other countries besides Canada are subject to this restriction.

New Idea In Advertising

Method Of Fire Insurance Company Is Quite Different

We have all heard the story of how Coty purposely crashed several bottles of his product to the floor in the stores handling the perfume in order to create an odor appeal for the product. A fire insurance company has gone that idea one better; it has impregnated a mailing piece with the odor of burnt wood and drenched water. The copy reads, "When your home smells of burnt wood drenched with water—like the odor you got when you opened this folder—it is probably too late to attend to your fire insurance."

Dairy Cow Efficient Food Producer

Properly built stalls cut down work and bacteria.

With increasing rentals and values of farm lands, dairy farming is rapidly replacing other types of live stock farming. A dairy cow producing 8,000 pounds of milk a year furnishes 1,000 pounds of dry matter, all of which is edible and digestible. A two year old steer weighing between 1,200 and 1,300 pounds furnishes about 550 pounds of dry matter, not all of which can be used for food. In other words a fairly good producing dairy cow furnishes twice as much edible dry matter in one year as a good two year old steer when he is killed for meat. A cow can be kept for additional years of service, while to replace the steer, another animal must be fed for a period of two years.

The annual consumption of milk per capita has increased in Canada from 24½ gallons in 1921, to over 52 gallons in 1929. These figures refer only to those who buy their milk and include all forms of consumption.

With growing acceptance of milk as a food has come an increasing knowledge of the proper care of milk on the farm. Because odors from foods and animals in the cow stable are easily taken up by milk, injuring its flavor, they must not come in contact with the milk. Removal of the milk from the stable as soon as possible reduces the amount of dust and dirt entering it and keeps down the bacterial growth in the milk.

Bacteria increase rapidly in warm milk causing it to sour quickly. Removal of the animal heat from freshly drawn milk by lowering the temperature to that of cold well water (approximately 60 degrees Fahrenheit), greatly aids in preventing bacterial growth. A well lighted, well ventilated milk house, not too close to the stable, is also very helpful.

Cleanliness in the stable is vitally necessary. The stall platform should

Milk In the Nations Health

More Sanitary Methods Of Production and Handling Is Desired

Of all foods used in the family life no other has such a direct relation to the nation's health as milk, and the public are quite within their rights in demanding that the old time dairyman with his careless habits and limited knowledge of sanitation should give way to the better trained, more careful producer.

These ideas are expressed as a concluding word by C. K. Johns and A. G. Lochhead, bacteriologists at the experimental farm, at Ottawa, in their new bulletin "Testing the Producer's Milk for Quality." As a means of reducing to the minimum poor qualities in milk judged from the standpoint of food value, cleanliness, healthfulness and fine flavours, health departments of cities and towns and the large milk handling companies are insisting more and more upon sanitary methods of production and handling, disease-free dairy herds and employees, properly supervised pasteurization of the milk and protection from re-contamination after pasteurization has been given. By giving careful attention to all of these points most of the large cities have almost completely eradicated milk-borne disease. In the smaller communities that are not so far advanced in milk sanitation, where properly pasteurized milk cannot be obtained, this bulletin No. 123, of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, recommends the householders to pasteurize their milk in their own homes.

The Minister of National Defence announces that an agreement has been arrived at between the governments of Canada and the United States, relative to international traffic by air between the two countries.

This traffic has been regulated since June, 1921, under a provisional agreement reached then. The new agreement supersedes this and provides for its regulation in greater detail. It is reciprocal and covers the admission of civil aircraft registered in one country to the territory of the other. The issuance of pilot's licenses in both countries to nationals of the other and the acceptance of certificates of air-worthiness for aircraft exported from either country to the other. It applies to all commercial and state aircraft other than those in the military, naval, customs and police service.

Under it Canadian aircraft entering the United States must be registered and passed as airworthy by the Department of National Defence, and must bear the registration letters allotted to it by that department. In the same way aircraft of the United States entering Canada must be registered and passed as airworthy by the United States Department of Commerce, and bear their registration markings. Aircraft desiring to cross the international border must carry aircraft, engine and journey log-books and certificates of registration and air-worthiness. Their pilots must carry licenses issued to them by the Department of National Defence in Canada or the Department of Commerce in the United States.

It also provides that the taking of aerial photographs by the aircraft of one country is not permitted over the territory of the other.

Under the new agreement, aircraft and pilots licensed to carry passengers and cargo by either Canada or the United States may engage in traffic between the two countries, but must not operate commercially between points in the territory of the other state.

The new agreement becomes operative immediately and will continue in force until 60 days notice of desire to terminate it is given by either country, or until it is superseded by a further agreement between the two countries dealing with the same subject, or by enactment of legislation in either country inconsistent with the terms of the agreement.

No special permission is now required to cross the border. So long as aircraft are licensed and flown by licensed pilots they may fly from one country to the other, provided the customs and immigration requirements are fully complied with.

Measured In Miles

Sausage is measured by the mile at the dinners of the huge hydro nitrate factory at Rjukan, Norway. At a banquet in honor of the general manager of the plant, 3,000 guests ate 11½ miles of sausage. Other statistics of the dinner showed the following was consumed: 2,500 quarts of beer, 1,000 bottles of liquor, 1,000 pounds of bananas, and 2,200 pounds of potatoes.

In the three prairie provinces of Canada—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta—about 4,000 harvester-combine machines were used this year during the wheat harvest.

"LUXURY" MONEY LOST IN CRASH

Officials concerned with Government revenues as well as those of the Trade and Commerce and Labor departments are keenly concerned as to the fruits of October and November collapse of stock market values.

Obviously the great descent of prices must be reflected in next year's income tax returns. Quite as obviously it must exercise a great influence upon public demand for luxuries and for many of those items which were a short time ago regarded as luxuries but are now generally considered necessities of life. How great will be the depression of public revenues and how severe the industrial reaction and consequent reduction in employment, are the problems which ministers and officials are attempting to solve in advance.

If market authorities can be accepted, more than $100,000,000,000 have been shorn from stock values in the succession of panics at New York. If that be true it can be estimated that the dozens of other exchanges throughout the continent have in the aggregate witnessed reverses of almost corresponding volume. In countless thousands of cases people who were rich in September were in debt in November.

But in even more instances, where people were not entirely wiped out, they saw their profit margins lost and their working capital seriously eaten into. The money that would have ordinarily gone into more automobiles, more expensive radios, into travel, into new homes, into a hundred things that can be done without, is gone.

Canadians were largely engaged in United States market operations and a great number of them lost heavily there. In addition securities listed on Canadian exchanges dropped perhaps $4,000,000,000 in the debacle. The share value of International Nickel alone fell nearly $600,000,000.

It is self-evident that many millions of surplus cash which would have been available to keep domestic trade humming has vanished. What the net result will be on industrial activity and upon employment can only be conjectured, but it cannot be beneficial.

BEAT THEM TO IT

The Christmas season will soon be upon us with all its joys of buying for the loved ones. It is one of the big buying seasons of the year.

All the big catalogue houses are alive to this fact and will, within the next week or so, flood the country with their catalogue of "inviting" offers.

There is only one way in which the local merchant can hope to combat this and that is by telling your customers what you have to offer, in plain, simple, convincing language. Make your store attractive, and when your customers call, see to it that you make them welcome and give them that service that will make them want to come back again.

If you do not tell them what you have to sell, how can you expect them to come. Invite them and tell them what you have. Tell them the price and sell only such goods as you can stand behind. You will get the business. "Keep on telling them and you will keep on selling them."

The Calgary Salvation Army Band is expected at the Ev. Church to give a musical program of gospel songs, which will be interspersed with a few short addresses and other devotional exercises. WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYINGPARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The Parent-Teacher Association is to be reorganized early next month for the winter season.

This organization is one that should receive the hearty endorsement and support of every citizen with children attending school, in fact, of every citizen.

The meetings form a common ground on which teachers and parents may meet and discuss the problems of the school and home as applying to the pupils and much good will be derived from these discussions both for the teachers and the parents.

The association helps to create a better understanding between the school and home and if those interested approach the problems in the proper spirit, many questions which are a source of trouble to both teacher and parent will be easily solved.

The association had a very successful season last year, and with the hearty support of all the parents, 1929-30 should prove even more successful.

SMALLPOX

The following is the personal experience of the writer. A few years ago a sick man was landed from his ship at a busy seaport. He was taken to the home of a relative, and died one week later, not having been seen by a doctor until just before death, when his illness was diagnosed as smallpox. Six weeks later all the members of that household except one died of virulent smallpox. The exception had been vaccinated in infancy; he had a mild attack followed by complete recovery. The disease spread, rapidly assuming epidemic form, and before it was controlled over thirty victims died, and without exception they were unvaccinated.

Five cases of smallpox were reported in Edmonton recently, they had been in contact with many people before being isolated. Known contacts were vaccinated but were those others unknown immune to infection?

Every individual has a right to his own opinion on any subject whatsoever, but has he the right to impose that opinion on others or to endanger the health of the community by the practice of that belief?

Vaccination has been proved over and over again to be a preventative for smallpox. Let us defend our children from such a loathsome disease and its accompanying disfigurement.

Literature on the prevention of communicable diseases may be had free from the Red Cross Society, 407 Civic Block, Edmonton.

Gas Supply For Saskatchewan

Eagle Butte Oil Company, At Cypress Hills, May Solve Problem

The prospect of a natural gas supply for the cities of Regina and Moose Jaw and for towns and villages extending westward as far as Maple Creek, has been brought measurably closer with the announced intention of the Eagle Butte Oil Company to spud in a second well in the centre of the Cypress Hills gas field, about 290 miles west of Regina and close to the Alberta boundary line.

The development of the Cypress Hills gas field is being proceeded with in anticipation of market'ng gas in Saskatchewan. According to the findings of government engineers it is believed that the Cypress Hills field offers the closest supply of gas which can be transported to this market. A pipe line from the Cypress Hills would reach the town of Maple Creek first, and then proceed to Moose Jaw and Regina, supplying all towns and cities along intervening route.

The whole problem has been carefully examined by competent engineers and has been pronounced feasible. Independent engineers who have been retained by the City of Regina, after an exhaustive examination of all possible sources of supply, pronounce the operations of the Eagle Butte Oil Company, Limited, as the most likely to result in the development of an adequate supply of gas for the Saskatchewan market.—Free Press.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bismarck Magnesia and take a little in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk), is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Excellent Work Accomplished By Ontario Protective Air Patrol

To protect the forests of Ontario, one of the province's most valuable assets, the Ontario Government protective air patrol has this year flown 850,000 air miles or a total of 11,500 flying hours. This is 5,460 more hours than the total in 1928, and was done without injury to a single member of the personnel engaged or to any of the passengers carried in the 'planes.

The forest patrol service covered the vast area of Northern Ontario, from Lake Superior to James Bay, and has many notable exploits to its credit in carrying relief to stranded expeditions and conveying injured or sick persons from outlying posts to hospitals.

Atlantic Air Service

Important Question Is Type Of Craft Safest and Most Suitable

Canadians will await with interest details of the negotiations the Federal Government is said to be carrying on with an airways corporation looking to the establishment of a flying service between this country and Great Britain. The project, as so far divulged, contemplates the use of flying boats, large enough to accommodate 50 passengers, and which would also be used for the transportation of mail and express. The route would embrace Greenland and Scotland, and the 'planes would have a non-stop cruising radius of 1,000 miles.

Regular air services across the Atlantic and other seas are bound to come, and the question chiefly resolves itself into the type of craft that is the safest and most suitable. The world flight of the Graf Zeppelin and the experimental flights of the R-100 and R-101, in Great Britain suggest that the dirigible is the safest form of craft for long non-stop flights. However, numerous stops are contemplated in the use of flying boats in the proposed British-Canadian service, and, provided winter weather conditions do not operate against their use, these may have a future in North Atlantic aviation.

An aerial passenger, mail, and express service between Great Britain and Canada should add to social and commercial intercourse between the two countries. The King Government has been deeply interested in aviation projects and this country may find it advisable in the not distant future to create a Ministry of Aviation, with a Minister solely charged with the development of flying in Canada and with establishing aviation contacts with other countries.—Regina Daily Post.

Russians Are Thorough

Man Supposed Dead Can Be Identified By Stammer, Say Officials

Some things are done thoroughly in Russia. For example, Dmitri Petrovich has been missing for some time from his home near Leningrad. As he is a person of some importance an official notice has been issued offering a reward for the recovery of his body. It seems to be believed that he has been drowned in the Neva. As an aid to the identification of the body, it is emphasized that "he is specially to be recognized by the fact that he stammers." Critics of this notice apprehend that if the corpse stammers when it talks, the superstitious peasant who makes the discovery will flee the thing instead of revealing its whereabouts.

To Attract Tourists

Yokohama plans an effort to compete with Shanghai for the title of "Paris of the Orient." As a first step in the scheme to attract more tourist trade to Japanese port city, Mayor C. Ariyoshi proposes to construct a large theatre and cabaret. Other night life attractions would be added. Tourists are now prone to stop in Shanghai, which is famed over the world for the gaiety of its cafes and dance halls, which contribute greatly to the wealth of that city.

New Sound Film Apparatus

The Turk's Clock

Farmers tell WHY they Clip Cows

A CERTAIN farmer wanted the facts about clipping cows, so he wrote us for names of those owning clipping machines.

He wrote them. Now he himself is so pleased with the Stewart Clipping Machine he sent us the letters which made him decide the clipping machine is a good investment.

Here are some of them: Maxville. "I have been shipping to Borden's Milk Plant regularly for 7 years and during that time I have never had a can of milk returned. I get cleaner milk and find my cows easier to keep clean so if for that alone I would say a clipping machine is a good investment."

Billings Bridge. "I always clip mine in the fall. Some half up and others that are inclined to be woolly I clip them all over, as I find they do better and much easier to keep clean, and it sure does reduce the bacteria count and I am sure we get more milk as well. I always get Score 1. I would not be without a clipping machine under any consideration."

Desboro. "We have had a power clipper for years and would not do without one. It is a great help. The milk is easier to keep clean and pure. Keeping down lice sure will produce more milk."

HOW TO CLIP COWS

Manure, the principal source of bacteria, cannot collect and at milking time rub off into the pail if hair on udders, underline, flanks and tail is kept clipped short all winter.

Lice seem to congregate along the spine, which explains why some farmers clip a six-inch width from tail to ears.

Farmers who have warm stables and drinking water inside, usually clip their cows all over.

Buy a clipping machine and make more money from your cows—with less work. Stewart No. 1 Clipping Machine is easy to use and anyone can do a nice job of clipping with it. Strong, sturdy, easy-running and will last for years. At your dealer, $15.00. Satisfaction or money refunded.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrell, the cigarette girl, but he doesn't know it. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When their baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend. She and Perry take the child which Al adores and sail for France. Al, completely broken by his tragic loss, disappears from Broadway and becomes a derelict. One day, as he wanders down a back street, he sees Grace Farrell on the opposite corner. He runs away and Grace hastens to Blackie Joe's club to tell him the news.

CHAPTER XXII.

"I just saw someone we both know," Grace began, with a tired, rather set little smile. "Al Stone."

"No?" Blackie put down his cigar. "Where?"

Briefly Grace related the circumstances of their encounter.

"So he ran away from you, did he?" said Blackie, nodding thoughtfully. "I can understand that — ashamed to meet his old friends. That always happens when a man begins to slip. And his clothes looked old, did they? Well, well."

Suddenly Blackie's expression changed.

"Grace, are you still fond of him?"

"I don't know," she answered frankly. "I was asking myself that as I walked along. Of course I like him if you mean only that. But if you mean love, well, you know, Blackie, love dies after a time. Or at least we pretend it dies, to protect ourselves. . . . I shall always consider Al one of my best and truest friends — I know that."

Grace's eyes were half-closed as she spoke, as if she feared the look

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful! I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did."

that memory might bring them. And a controlled little smile set her lips.

"You told me once, Grace, that you'd never fall in love with anyone else."

"That's true—I haven't."

Blackie nodded. He knew that other men, some of them quite personable, had been attentive to Grace since Al left. She had gone to dinner with them, laughed and talked with them, but—they seemed unable to make a serious impression on her. The reason was obvious—she had the dream of Al in between her and these later comers.

During the three years Grace had developed from a child into a woman. She was still slender and lovely, but there was a quiet dignity about her and a feeling of poise that she had acquired only recently. Blackie wondered what Al would think of her if he saw her closely now.

Then he returned to the subject of their missing friend. "You don't know any way we can find him?"

"How can we?" Grace made a gesture of despair. "Everyone has tried to find him and failed. But at least we do know he's in New York. That's something. I should imagine, from his clothes, that he's living in some poor quarter of the city."

Grace, following Blackie's idea, was filled with a sudden determination. Why not try to find Al? She just might be successful and, whether she loved him or not, he was her good friend. He was worth saving!

Grace set out on her journey to find Al the very next afternoon, when she was free from work. Her plan was simple—she simply walked the streets where she had seen him the day before, combing the neighborhood thoroughly. But at the end of the first day's search she hadn't caught a glimpse of him nor found a single clue. It was as if he knew she might try this very thing and so had made himself scarce in that particular neighborhood. Grace appeared at Blackie's in the evening tired out and disappointed, but not entirely discouraged.

The next day she tried again; for a week she pursued her quest with an indomitable spirit. But each day there was the same story to tell—no trace of Al. Finally Blackie said to her:

"You'd better give up that hunt. This town is too big—you simply can't comb it properly. Al would be able to dodge and keep out of sight if one hundred detectives were after him."

Grace nodded. "I guess you're right. Blackie—I'm just wasting my time. Still, I'm glad I tried; I never would have felt satisfied until I made the effort—after seeing him that one time."

Meanwhile, Al continued his wandering life, never dreaming that Grace was trying to find him. If he had known it, he would have stayed in his room all day to avoid being found. But instead he pursued his casual way, lolling on the docks, eating at the cheapest lunch counters.

After his disappearance he had read the papers carefully for news of Molly and Junior. One day a news dispatch from Paris caught his eye:

"Mrs. Al Stone, known to the Broadway stage as Molly Winton, is one of a number of American women who have filed suit for divorce in the French courts recently. Mrs. Stone alleges extreme cruelty and desertion. It is understood that Mr. Stone, whose whereabouts are unknown, will not fight the case."

"Among the gossips of the boulevards it is said that as soon as Mrs. Stone's divorce is granted, she will marry John Perry, well known bon vivant of Broadway. The couple are seen to gether a great deal at the Riviera resorts, where Mrs. Stone's beauty and chic attire have attracted a great deal of favorable attention. On the beach she is frequently accompanied by her baby son, Junior Stone."

"Meanwhile Al Stone's old friends from Broadway are wondering what has become of the former successful song writer. At one time it was said that he, too, had come to France, but this was denied by those in the know."

Al had dropped the paper with a bitter smile. So Molly was charging him with cruelty and desertion! The terrible irony of the accusations dazed him for a moment. And Molly was preparing to marry Perry!

Oh, well, it didn't matter; nothing mattered any more! Let her make any charges she wished to get her freedom. Yet the picture of Junior, on the Riviera beach with his mother, remained with Al for a few days. He wondered if Junior still chattered and laughed as he had in the old days and whether he remembered his daddy?

Al looked down at his shabby clothes. He certainly wouldn't want Junior to see him as he appeared now—the personification of failure. No, Junior must never know what had become of his daddy. Al's pride was strong enough for him to make that decision.

After that Al still studied the newspapers for other items concerning his family, but nothing else appeared. Nor did Molly send any letters. Al had left word that his mail was to be forwarded care of an obscure East Side bank, where he had placed his money. But every time he called at the bank for additional money, and asked for letters, he found none from Molly. Letters from Marcus and all his old Broadway friends drifted in, but these he quickly tore up without opening them.

Recently he had ceased to read the papers or to ask for letters. His interest in life was dwindling, narrowing down to the smallest circle. Even this interest was passive rather than active—he did not really care about sleeping, dressing, eating, wandering through the streets. It was done simply through habit—his last hold on life. If that passed from him one of these days it meant dark oblivion for the man who had once been light-hearted Al Stone.

Seeing Grace on the street had proved a terribly disturbing shock to him. In running away he had followed his first impulse—but afterward his conscience had bothered him. He knew Grace's feelings would be hurt. After all, Grace had been one of his best pals back in the old days at Blackie Joe's. He remembered her as she had looked then—a startled fawn of a child. She had certainly developed into a stunning girl.

An Oil That Is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

Has Interesting History

Small Cinema Was Built For Use Of Royal Family

Across the way from the Royal riding school in the labyrinth of streets between Buckingham Palace-Road and Victoria Station is a small and comparatively new cinema with an interesting history. It was built by Mr. E. C. Lascelles, a cousin of Lord Lascelles, for the use of members of the Royal Family. The cinema is on the site of an old ecclesiastical building, and construction of a subterranean passage was commenced so that the cinema would be directly accessible from Buckingham Palace, but that idea was abandoned.

Miller's Worm Powders work so effectively that no traces of worms can be found. The pests pass away in the stools without being perceptible. They make an entire and clean sweep of the intestines, and nothing in the shape of a worm can find lodgement there when these powders are in operation. Nothing could be more thorough or desirable than their action.

Two hundred silver foxes, valued at $70,000 were recently shipped from Prince Edward Island fox ranches, the chief centre of the fox farming industry in Canada, to Sweden.

Traced Blackmailer By Following Carrier Pigeon He Sent Out

Aerial photography recently thwarted an attempt at blackmail, in Germany. A wealthy man received a package containing a carrier pigeon and a letter, which stated that if he did not forward a large sum of money by the pigeon within a given time, he would meet violent death. The pigeon was released and followed by an airplane, and an aerial photograph taken of the place where the bird landed. The house of the offender was easily identified. He was an unemployed miner, from one of the intended victim's mines.

WHEN YOUR BABY CATCHES A COLD

In spite of all precautions little ones will take colds—especially during the changeable days of our Fall season. When the first symptoms appear—sneezing, redness of the eyes, running nose—Baby's Own Tablets should be given at once. They will rapidly break up the cold and prevent more serious complications.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house always feel safe. In fact they are like having a doctor in the house. They are a gentle but thorough laxative that sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and relieving the baby of the many childhood ailments which are the direct result of a clogged condition of the bowels or sour stomach. They are absolutely safe—being guaranteed to contain no drug at all harmful to even the youngest babe. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Manitoba Fisheries

The Manitoba Co-operative Fisheries, Ltd., an organization of 400 fishermen, on Lake Winnipeg, began operation on September 1, 1928. In the first season's operations which ended on April 30, 1929, this new co-operative organization handled 6,100,000 pounds of fish, out of a total catch of 14,500,000 pounds in Lake Winnipeg.

For a vermicide an excellent preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It has saved the lives of countless children.

A Chicken Cleaning Machine

A new machine has been developed which draws the entrails out of a chicken, cuts off the head and the feet and releases the cleaned carcass to an attendant. At a demonstration of this machine before the poultry trades in New York, only six seconds were required for the complete operation. The machine is adjustable for chickens weighing from two to seven pounds; special machines will have to be built for smaller birds as well as for turkeys and geese.

Two carloads of "McIntosh Red" apples were shipped recently from the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, to South Africa, and one carload to Sweden.

Little Helps For This Week

"Blessed is the man whom Thou chastenest, O Lord, and teachest him out of Thy law."—Psalm xciv. 12.

Do not cheat thy heart, and tell her, "Grief will pass away; Hope for fairer things tomorrow, And forget today." Tell her, if you will, that sorrow, Need not come in vain; Tell her that the lesson taught her Far outweighs the pain.

—Adelaide Anne Proctor.

It would be a poor result of all our anguish and our wrestling, if we won nothing but our old selves at the end of it; if we could return to the same blind loves, the same self-confident blame, the same light thoughts of human suffering, the same frivolous gossip over blighted human lives, the same feeble sense of the Unknown forward which we have sent forth irrepressible cries in our loneliness. Let us rather be thankful that our sorrow lives in us as an indestructible force, only changing its form as forces do, and passing from pain into sympathy.—George Eliot.

Approximately 2,000,000 acres in new agricultural land have been "broken" in the past three years in those parts of western Canada served by the Canadian National Railways, according to Dr. W. J. Black, the Company's Director of Colonization.

Catarrh

Heat and Inflammation. Excellent for colds in head, throat and chest.

A British archaeologist states that a town of 100,000 inhabitants was a rarity in the Roman Empire, and that Rome probably had about half a million people.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

SUNSHINE NEEDS AID IN RELIEVING DISTRESS

An organization which is working twelve months in the year and particularly during the cold weather months to help those in distress is the Calgary Herald Sunshine Santa Claus Fund. Every year at this time an appeal is made to contribute to the fund and assistance is sought, not only in the City of Calgary, but throughout the province for the reason that the Sunshine Society helps to relieve suffering in various parts of Alberta, as well as in the City of Calgary. Sunshine has been functioning for eighteen years and in that period has relieved the distress of thousands.

It is a good thing for Alberta that such an organization exists because there are many cases which cannot be assisted through official sources and yet, if the cases are not helped, the suffering would be intense.

Those who are in the happy position where their lives are comfortable are invited to consider the plight of those who lack the common necessities of life and are invited to show their warm-heartedness through the medium of contributions to the Sunshine Society.

A RED CROSS MASQUERADE

One of the most effective ideas for the annual Red Cross dance in a little town was the following:—

The ladies who served lunch and were the members of the committee who sponsored the masquerade dance decided that they would themselves go as nurses and one should be dressed as Florence Nightingale. A large bed sheet was folded into a voluminous skirt which came right down to the ground. Over this was worn an apron and a three-cornered neckerchief. A lace cap with long white streamers completed the lady's attire, and in her hand she held a light.

With hair parted in the centre this lady resembled closely one of the well known pictures of Florence Nightingale.

As she moved hither and thither amongst the more modern Red Cross Nurses it was a striking picture of the old and the new woman and the ancient and modern fashion.

The white veils with red crosses and the short bobbed hair of the girls of today, as well as their knee-high skirts had a certain significance in the thought of freedom that has become woman's own.

Florence Nightingale, however, made up a picture of repose and dignity that although quaint, was quite fine in its own way.

The above suggestion is worthy of consideration from any Red Cross locals who wish to do something different at a small expense, and which is yet attractive.

SICK

Have you ever been sick enough to be kept in the house for a month or two months? It's pretty tough. Nothing in the world gives you so much pleasure then as to have a friend drop in for a visit. It shows you you're not forgotten and that your friends really are friends. And, we believe, it helps you to get well a lot quicker. Well, if it is good for you it must be good for the other fellow. So drop in to see him.—Youth's Companion.
